CHILDREN'S NEST

Camp30- Jan 2020

Support the unaccompanied refugee children. We aim to build a strong network and spread the information by sharing news from reliable resources while encourages future supporters to take action, providing them with a clear view of the actual situation. Mainly, we aim to ensure the unacompanied minors a place to stay, which could be possible through adoption or by raising funds to build houses or renovate existing ones.

Birds' Voice

Camp31- Feb 2020

Bird's voice is the space where solo women traveling, find information about women who travel alone and give some advice on how to do, by inspiring stories and tips to be prepare for this kind of adventures. Although they will find content about security and experiences of harrasment while travelling to be prepared.

Bird's voice allows traveling women to share their stories and to speak up about their situation. Through interviews, articles and various content we want to explore women's traveling conditions and to teach them how to be prepared to travel alone or in couples.

Birds' voice wants to build a community of self-confident, exploring-enthusiast and empowered women that are aware of the issue about their safety while traveling but want to overcome any feeling of vulnerability.

CONTENT

Our voice is positive and will encourage all women to travel and explore the world. For every problem we will raise about solo traveling, a solution will be provided to our audience. Our Birds will be free - but aware of their vulnerability – and thanks to Birds' Voice they will start their solo experience better prepared. The content of our media is unbiased and we don't aim to create prejudices.

The Every Day Racism Project

The beginning

Created in 2013 to document the everyday experiences of racism from around the world.

Initially the idea was to create a platform which could be used by those who've experienced racism to share in confidence their stories and experiences.
